_____ * I accept that any animal's behavior is difficult to predict at any time and have been advised to engage in a slow introduction with new people of all ages and animals.

_____ I understand that this cat needs a slow introduction to the home, with Seattle Humane recommending a 3 week introduction period. The following is a typical transition set up:
1st week COMPLETE CONFINEMENT to a room with little or no hiding areas (example: the bathroom).
2nd week is more exposure to rest of home while supervised and then returned to same room.
3rd week is access to rest of home if appropriate (shy animal may need more time).

_____ I have been advised how to manage a multi animal household; special caution is necessary to ensure the safety of all pets (pets should not be left together without supervision).

_____ I understand that a cat must keep their claws and I will NEVER subject this cat to declawing.

_____ It has been explained that this cat cannot safely interact with the following:
 _____ children _____ dogs _____ cats/small animals

_____ I am prepared to see all potty accidents outside of a litterbox as medical and will consult my private vet.

_____ I understand this animals medical needs and am prepared for their continual care.
